Gospel Matthew
18.15-20

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. Gospel Matthew 18.15-20

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

CHANGE IN ADORATION SCHEDULE NEXT WEEK

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

Gospel Matthew
18.15-20

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

CHANGE IN ADORATION SCHEDULE NEXT WEEK

Gospel Matthew
18.15-20

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

Training for ST IGNATIUS Ministers of the Word & Eucharist

New Ministers must receive training (a 30-minute session) before being placed on the roster, so that you feel confident with what happens. Existing Ministers are highly recommended to attend as a refresher for our current practices. Six time slots at varying times are available for each ministry over the next two weeks so that we can include you in our upcoming roster. If you cannot attend any of these sessions, further sessions will be offered at the beginning of October so that hopefully all new volunteers can be on the roster prior to Christmas.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

Gospel Matthew
18.15-20

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

CHANGE IN ADORATION SCHEDULE NEXT WEEK

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. 23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.

23rd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
Saturday 9 & Sunday 10 September 2023

Mother of Perpetual Help & St Ignatius Parishes

“If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.” This passage above offers the first of three steps Jesus offers to reconcile with someone who has sinned against you. The steps Jesus offers are as follows: 1) Speak privately to the person. 2) Bring two or three others to help with the situation. 3) Bring it to the Church. If after trying all three steps you are not able to reconcile, then Jesus says, “...treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.”

The first and most important point to mention in this process of reconciliation is that we should keep the sin of another quiet, between them and us, until we have sincerely tried to reconcile. So often when someone sins against us, the first temptation we have is to go forth and tell others about it. We should learn is that the sins another commits against us are not details we have a right to tell others about, at least not at first. The next important steps offered by Jesus do involve others and the Church. The steps of involving others are done so as to assist another in repentance, so that the person in error sees the gravity of the sin. This takes humility on our part. It requires a humble attempt to help them not only see their error but to also change. The final step, if they do not change, is to treat them like a Gentile or tax collector. But even this must be understood properly. How do we treat a Gentile or tax collector? We treat them with a desire for their continued conversion. We treat them with continued respect, while at the same time acknowledge that we are not “on the same page.” Reflect, today, upon any relationship you have that requires healing and reconciliation.

Lord of true healing, give me a humble and merciful heart so that I may reconcile with those who have sinned against me. I forgive them, dear Lord, just as You have forgiven me. Give me the grace to seek reconciliation in accord with Your perfect will. Jesus, I trust in You.
